SRO – The Basics and Beyond (2-Day)

Looking for a comprehensive "how-to" guide for school policing from an instructor with firsthand experience? Look no further. Our course offers a real-life introduction to the world of school policing, covering topics ranging from "what do I do on the first day to be successful?" to active shooter response and prevention.

Being a school resource officer involves more than simply transferring a police officer to a school building. Success in this role requires a shift in policing mentality, an understanding of available resources, and specific knowledge of the rules and laws governing school policing. Topics such as Miranda rights, search and seizure protocols, and free speech in public school settings are notably different from other environments. Additionally, working with special populations, like autistic and special needs students, navigating parent interactions, conducting classroom presentations, and other critical subjects are key components of the job.

Our comprehensive course equips officers with the skills and knowledge necessary to excel as competent SROs in the school environment. Participants will receive step-by-step guidance on everything from the first day on the job to handling critical incidents like active shooter scenarios. Join us and gain the expertise needed to make a positive impact in your school community, solve challenging life issues and change lives.
